Technology Information Center for Administrative Leadership

Innovative Leadership Opportunity for Administrators

This special event is open to twenty select administrators who are eager to lead in a changing world by sharing innovative solutions and supporting the classroom of tomorrow today. Participants attending will become part of a select cadre group who will focus on shaping a new mind-set, a new skill-set, and a tool-set through knowledge sharing of innovative practices. Invitation window for this no charge professional development event closes on January 15, 2010 @ 4:00 PM.

TICAL is a project of the California Department of Education. The TICAL Leadership Cadre consists of 21 educators (Superintendents, Assistant Superintendents, Directors, Principals, and Technology Specialists) from all regions of California who provide workshops and presentations on current and emerging technologies. They help improve our schools and support administrators 24/7 through the website: www.portical.org

TICAL Los Angeles is an expansion project designed to replicate the statewide group. Local TICAL cadre members will facilitate the training for administrators who are committed to gather periodically and enjoy the benefits of learning from experts in the field and their colleagues to examine learning solutions, improve student learning, and utilize technology tools that will support 21st century teaching and learning.

Participants will:

- Examine issues for how to lead in a changing world
- Learn 21st Century Leadership Skills
- Increase their knowledge of technology tools
- Save time and increase daily productivity by utilizing technology
- Learn where to find resources as new needs arise
- Be exposed to current and future technologies
